RESPONSE OF PACIFIC GAS AND ELECTRIC COMPANY (U 39 E) TO APPLICATIONS FOR
REHEARING OF DECISION 07-01-039, INTERIM
OPINION ON PHASE 1 ISSUES, GREENHOUSE GAS EMISSIONS PERFORMANCE STANDARD

I. INTRODUCTION

Pursuant to Rule 16.1(d) of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (Rules), Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E) provides this response to the applications for rehearing of Decision (D.) No. 07-01-039 filed by the Center for Energy and Economic Development (CEED) and Community Environmental Council (CE Council) in this proceeding.

Both applications for rehearing identify no legal error in D.07-01-039 and therefore should be rejected. CEED's argument that the decision is an impermissible extraterritorial regulation in violation of the Commerce Clause of the U.S. Constitution is not supported by the facts, which demonstrate that the activities and transactions regulated under the decision and Senate Bill (SB) 1368 all occur within California.^{1/} Likewise, CE Council's argument that the express terms of SB 1368 require that the "net lifecycle emissions" of the fuels used and transported to generate electricity must be directly regulated under SB 1368 is without merit. By its terms SB 1368 solely applies to greenhouse gas emissions from the procurement of electricity from baseload electric generating plants, not from sources upstream from those plants or transactions.^{2/}

^{1/} CEED Application for Rehearing, February 23, 2007, pp. 3- 5. PG&E notes that the Commerce Clause arguments in CEED's Application are limited to D.07-01-039's alleged unconstitutional extraterritorial effect, and CEED does not challenge the decision on the basis of facial discrimination or discriminatory effect.

II. CEED'S APPLICATION SHOULD BE DENIED BECAUSE THE ACTIVITIES AND TRANSACTIONS REGULATED BY D.07-01-039 ALL OCCUR WITHIN CALIFORNIA AND THEREFORE D.07-01-039 DOES NOT IMPERMISSIBLY REGULATE EXTRA-TERRITORIAL ACTIVITIES

CEED argues that D.07-01-039 violates the Commerce Clause's per se ban on extraterritorial regulation, in that the decision "will affect transactions wholly outside California because an out-of-state generator must change its behavior to meet the standard." (CEED Application, p. 3.) But SB 1368 does nothing of the sort – it solely regulates the procurement practices and contracts of load-serving entities located in California buying for the California retail electricity market. (D.07-01-039, mimeo at p. 221.) CEED itself concedes this fact in the same paragraph of its argument, where it asserts that "The Decision plainly prohibits electric generators from selling their product in California unless the generator meets California's standards." (CEED Application, p. 4, emphasis added.)

Like numerous other forms of traditional state police power regulations, SB 1368 applies solely to entities, such as investor-owned utilities, publicly-owned utilities, and other sellers of electricity within the state ("load serving entities") whose activities within California have been and will continue to be subject to traditional utility or other public health and safety regulation in the State. In addition to Public Utilities Code section 8340(h), defining "load serving entity" as an entity which serves "end-use customers in the state," California directly regulates numerous other electricity transactions, activities and contracts that occur in the state but which may involve entities, such as electric generators, that conduct business both inside the state and outside the state. (See, e.g., Public Utilities Code section 380, establishing resource adequacy requirements for all load-serving entities; Public Utilities Code section 394, requiring registration of “electric service providers;” Public Utilities Code section 398.4, requiring disclosure by “retail suppliers” selling electricity consumed in California; Public Utilities Code sections 399.13 and 14, regulating renewable resources and renewable resource procurement plans in the state; Public Utilities Code section 454.5, regulating the electricity procurement plans and practices of investor-owned utilities.)

Business activities transacted in California are not subject to the prohibition on “extra-territorial” regulation. For example, out-of-state generators who are delivering electricity in or to the state as a result of contractual or commercial arrangements with California utilities and other load-serving entities, have not claimed that they are exempt from general public health and safety regulations directly applicable to those activities or contracts because some or all of the facilities that support the activities or contracts are located outside the state. Likewise, the activities and transactions regulated by D.07-01-039 are part and parcel of the same routine and traditional activities and transactions inside California that are subject to regulation by the CPUC and other California agencies charged with regulating the public health and safety aspects of activities occurring within the state. Contrary to CEED’s Application, D.07-01-039 is not an “extraterritorial” regulation of the type struck down in Healy v. Beer Institute (1989) 491 U.S. 324, 336 (1989), but is exactly the type of local regulation of in-state contractual and commercial activities squarely within California’s authority under the principle stated in Gravquick A/S v. Trimble Navigation International Ltd. (9th Cir. 2003) 323 F.3d 1219, 1224.

CEED’s Application is without merit and should be rejected.^{3/}

^{3/} CEED also argues that D.07-01-039 conflicts with and is preempted by the Federal Power Act and more specifically the mandatory purchase obligation of the Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act (PURPA), 16

III. CE COUNCIL’S APPLICATION SHOULD BE DENIED BECAUSE THE “NET EMISSIONS’ SECTION OF SB 1368 DOES NOT REQUIRE REGULATION OR ANALYSIS OF “LIFECYCLE EMISSIONS” OF FUELS USED IN POWER GENERATION

CE Council’s Application argues the meaning of Public Utilities Code section 8341(d)(2), which requires the CPUC in regulating commitments and procurement by load-serving entities for new baseload electric generation to include the “net emissions resulting from the production of electricity by the baseload generation.” According to CE Council, this means the CPUC must analyze and evaluate the “lifecycle” emissions from all fuel sources that are used by baseload electric generating plants, including in particular Liquefied Natural Gas (LNG) and then use that analysis to determine the “rate of emissions” from baseload electric generating plants under section 8341(d)(2). (Application of CE Council, p. 6.)

The defect in CE Council’s argument is that SB 1368 and section 8341(d)(2) regulate the emissions of powerplants, not the emissions of other facilities or entities that supply those powerplants or transport fuels to those powerplants. If the Legislature had intended that the emissions from LNG natural gas shippers, producers or pipelines be regulated under SB 1368, it would have said so. It did not, and specifically limited SB 1368’s regulatory reach to “commitments” “investments” in, and “procurement” of electricity by “load-serving entities” from, “baseload generation.” (Public Utilities Code sections 8340(h), (j); 8341(d)(1) and (2); 8341(e)(1) and (3).) The references to “net emissions” in sections 8341(d)(2) and 8341(e)(3) are nothing more than a requirement that the emissions from the baseload powerplant that is the subject of the regulated commitment or procurement, be “netted” on the basis of electricity “production” by the facility. In contrast, when the Legislature intended in SB 1368 that attributes of the fuel used by the generating facility, or other non-electricity production-related aspects of the facility, such as “thermal energy,” be used to determine the emissions, it said so.

See, for example, section 8341(d)(4), requiring that “the process of growing” and “processing...from” biomass, biogas and other landfill gas energy facilities” be taken into account in calculating emissions from such facilities. See, also section 8341(d)(3), requiring a distinction between “electrical and thermal energy” in the calculation of emissions from cogeneration facilities.

The Commission should reject CE Council’s attempt to move the “point of regulation” of SB 1368 “upstream” from baseload generating plants, to production, shipping or transport of LNG under the definition of “net emissions” in section 8341(d)(2).

IV. CONCLUSION

For the reasons stated above, both CEED’s and CE Council’s applications for rehearing should be rejected as unsupported by the facts and without legal merit.

Respectfully Submitted,
CHRISTOPHER J. WARNER
